To Whom It May Concern:

Serving as a board member for the Pacific Northwest Dental Conference from 2000 to 2004 I had the opportunity to scout speakers for our annual meeting. While scouting for speakers several years ago, I had the privilege of meeting Lisa Anne Leslie. We invited her to speak for two morning sessions at our 2003 meeting. Due to the overwhelming positive response that we received from her audiences we chose to have her back to speak at this year's conference. We rarely have a speaker present for two consecutive years.

This year we had Lisa speak in a room with a capacity for 400 people. She was scheduled to speak at 8:30 a.m., and by 8 a.m. the room was full, standing room only. We had to turn away close to 500 people that had come to hear her. The next day, which happened to be a sunny Friday in Seattle, we placed her in the grand ballroom which seats over 700, she again filled the room. Again, the comments this year were excellent. Many people had indicated how refreshing it was to hear something different from the norm associated with most dental meetings. They also commented on the fact that the information was helpful to take back and use in their dental offices as well as in their personal lives.

If you are looking for a speaker with a program that attracts dentists, hygienists, assistants and guests alike, and always fills a room (no matter how large), I highly recommend Lisa Anne Leslie. Lisa is very personable and easy to work with as well.
